In Opposition to a September Session of Congress. Looking calmly at the present condition of the country, we do not hesitate to declare our opposition to a September session of Congress.

I. On the eve of a national election when the people have their ballots in their hand, it is certainly expressing a doubt of the infallibility of this court of last resort, to make laws to enforce its decision.

II. Then, again, if Congress be assembled in the heat of party passions, in the midst of the seething, boiling cauldron of political quarrels, in which we are, there will naturally be many things said which will be intemperate in tone and highly inflammable in their character.

III. Even if the session was to be called, the time between its assembling and the day of election, is so short that the act desired could not be made effective.

IV. Finally, even if there was time and there was no impropriety in such hasty legislation, we do not deem it necessary. We consider the election of General Grant as certain as that there is a sun in the heavens, unless we throw it away by our own action.

The New Dominion. This course of affairs on the northern frontier, in British America, possesses at this period an unusual degree of interest.

A public and general expression of confidence ought to be offered to sundry New York politicians. How pleasant it must have been to some of them to know that everybody considered John Allen to be the very wickedest man in New York!

As New York has no longer a living condensation of its worst crimes, the sinfulness must again resolve into its ancient elementary state and be diffused throughout the bodies, which hitherto made so good their claim.

GERMAN REPUBLICANS.—Our German Republican citizens are fully alive to the necessities of the hour, and are already working actively in favor of Grant and Colfax.

THE CALICO INTEREST of the United States is an important one. The total product of printed goods in 1856 was about $3,000,000 yards.

While the British Government does not totally ignore its duty of promoting the industrial prosperity of its American possessions, this duty is generally discharged in an offensive, ungracious, and inefficient manner.

help Southern treason without incurring the risks and pains of overt and courageous treasonable acts. Against the minister the coarseness of the Democratic press are immediately turned.

FOUL PLAY. "Foul Play" drew to the Walnut Street Theatre last evening a large and patient audience—large, for nearly every seat in the building was occupied; and patient, for, despite the excessive heat, scarcely a person left his seat to retire, until the clock indicated twenty minutes after twelve.

Under these considerations we deem it useless and unwise to have a session of Congress before December next.

such as the readers of the novel would have reason to expect, it can fairly rank with the general run of popular dramatizations. While thirged throughout with a melo-dramatic savor, and capable of eliciting the most uproarious applause upon the Bowery stage, it played with that rare unctious which is found in the Bowery alone, it is not devoid of the most essential elements of the fastidiously legitimate drama, and can easily be made acceptable to a refined and critical audience.

Such an audience was present last evening, and altogether they were well pleased. The most deserving piece of acting was that of Mrs. W. A. Chapman, who understood the character of "Nancy Rouse," and did it full justice from beginning to end.

OUR DEBT is quite stupendous. At $3 per bushel, it represents 1,201,767,245 bushels of wheat, or 37,853,017 tons. To transport this amount in two-horse wagons, allowing one ton to each, would require 37,853,017 wagons and 75,706,034 horses.
